INVASION PROCEEDS ACCORDING TO PLAN

War Stage Set for Early German Collapse

EISENHOWER IN FIELD READY FOR ANY ACTION

Allies Prepared For Quick Victory If Opportunity Presents Itself

HUN POSITION HOPELESS

Observers See Possibility Of Enemy Commanders Halting Fight

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Dramatic developments in the European war set the stage today for a possible, although not necessarily probable, early collapse of Nazi resistance on the continent.

Although military men made their plans for a long range war, if necessary, the invasion of southern France and other developments created the opportunity for possible German capitulation in the not too distant future.

One factor along this line was the announcement from London that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had established field headquarters to command Allied operations in France.

Competent although unidentified military analysts, expressed the opinion that with Eisenhower in direct command of operations the Allies were prepared for an early victory if the opportunity presented itself.

It was pointed out that high ranking German commanders might be willing to surrender to Eisenhower if their military situation appeared hopeless.

Meanwhile, should the Germans decide to fight to the bitter end two powerful Allied invasion forces now are converging from the south and northwest in a drive that eventually will split France in two.

Drive To Gain Speed

Military men expect that the drive from the south may be slow at first but should gain momentum once the American, French and British forces begin rolling northward through the vital Rhone valley.

The fate of the German armies in France will be decided by the speed with which the Allied armies in the two areas are able to join in their drive somewhere west of Paris.

Meanwhile, military men warned that the Allies must be prepared for the possibility that German resistance will stiffen and prevent an early victory except by super-human pressure of men and materials.

However, progress of the war in France left little doubt that the Germans are fighting under a terrific handicap because they no longer have adequate air support which is vital to armies on the defensive and offensive.

Colmer Bill Nears Vote In House

Battle Expected Over Creation Of Surplus Property Czar

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The house Colmer postwar reconversion bill today moved nearer a probable final vote tomorrow or Friday amid charges that it would establish a "dictator" to dispose of an estimated 60 to 100 billion dollars of government surplus property.

Chairman Manasco (D) Ala., of the house executive expenditures committee, which reported the measure favorably for house consideration, said he anticipated a fight over the creation of a $12,000-a-year surplus property administrator.

Manasco said there was considerable sentiment for a board to administer the act, rather than a single head. It was reported that Rep. Poulson (D), Calif., or Rep. Patman (D) Tex., chairman of the small business committee, might present such a motion when the bill is thrown open to amendments tomorrow.

"I'm afraid it will get a lot of votes," admitted Manasco. He added, however, that the bill undoubtedly would be approved, predicting that only a few votes would be cast in opposition.

A fight was also brewing over a provision in the bill barring the surplus property administrator from selling synthetic rubber and aluminum plants costing over five million dollars. Manasco's committee extended the ban to cover also the 195 million dollar "big inch" oil pipe line at the insistence of Rep. Walter (D) Pa.

NAZI AGENCY REPORTS ALLIES TAKE ST. MALO

LONDON, Aug. 16—The German DNB agency reported today that "Allied troops, after street fighting which lasted several hours, last night captured Saint Malo."

"The Allied forces were supported by mass tank formations," DNB said.

"Some isolated resistance is still taking place in the citadel, which however, is under constant Allied artillery and air bombardment."

St. Malo has been the scene of bitter German resistance for over 10 days—ever since the Americans broke through in the Brittany peninsula and reached Brest and Loire.

The commander of the garrison at St. Malo is Col. Auloch, a veteran of Stalingrad, who repeatedly turned down Allied appeals for surrender long after his position had become hopeless.

Though not of major size, the harbor of St. Malo will prove useful in supplying the Allied armies both in Brittany and farther west.

BRICKER MAY SEEK BOOST IN TEACHERS' PAY

COLUMBUS, Aug. 16—In the face of mounting reports of teacher shortages, Gov. John W. Bricker indicated today he might call a special session of the Ohio legislature to enact emergency legislation boosting teacher salaries.

Gov. Bricker described the shortage of teachers as "very serious" and he warned that action must be taken before public schools reopen next month.

The governor said hundreds of teachers who have entered war work, or other business, might return to the former positions if their salaries were placed on a par with those paid in industry.

Meanwhile, H. J. Bowers, state supervisor of teacher certification, reported that teachers have left the profession at the rate of 10 a day since Pearl Harbor. One third of the number has been inducted into the armed services, another third has married and still another third has entered private business or war industry.

ICE CREAM SODAS WITH HIS BEST GIRL in fabulous New York might have been imagined by Pfc. Alton W. Knappenberger of Spring Mount, Pa., while he was killing five dozen Nazis and stopping an enemy counter-attack at Anzio to win the Congressional Medal of Honor. Progressive Party In Wisconsin Crushed By GOP Ballot Upsurge

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 16—The greatest upsurge of Republican ballots in recent years overwhelmingly renominated Wisconsin's octogenarian Gov. Walter S. Goodland and U. S. Sen. Alexander Wiley, in complete returns from the state primary established today.

The outcome of the election also threatened to wipe out Wisconsin's Progressive party founded by "Old Bob" La Follette, late Wisconsin senator.

Based on returns from more than one third of the state's 3,078 precincts, approximately 75 percent of the voters turned to the Republican ballot in yesterday's primary, exceeding even the predictions of party leaders.

LUTHERANS RAP WPB REFUSAL OF NEW CHURCH

EAST PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 16—Leaders of St. Peter's Lutheran church congregation of East Peoria appealed today to Rep. Dirksen (R) of Illinois to help them overcome the WPB's refusal to a permit for them to build a new church.

The congregation has been without a church building for three years. In their letter to Rep. Dirksen, the members asserted the WPB had given the green light to distillers to make whiskey and had granted remodeling permits to Peoria saloons and night clubs, but apparently there was no labor to "build a sanctuary of God."

The totals were: Wiley, 50,251; McCarthy, 22,642.

Daniel W. Hoan, for 24 years socialist mayor of Milwaukee until his eventual defeat several years ago, tried a political comeback as candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He apparently was successful. Although trailing in early returns, he later forged ahead of John N. Zimmerman, Milwaukee purchasing agent, his only opponent.

In 1131 of the state's 3,078 precincts, the vote was: Hoan, 16,577; Zimmerman, 10,592.

Alex Benz of Appleton led the Progressive candidates for the governorship nomination, with Leo Vaudreuil, Kenosha attorney, in second place.

TAKE ALL ARMS FROM AXIS, IDEA OF MORGENTHAU

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau today had added his voice to the growing demand for permanent disarmament of Axis countries as a guarantee of the future peace of the world.

Speaking in London after a trip through London's underground to bomb raid shelters with Mrs. Winston Churchill and Lady Louis Mountbatten, Morgenthau said: "There can be no peace on earth, no security for any man, woman or child, if aggressor nations like Germany and Japan retain any power to strike again at their neighbors. Germany and Japan must be kept disarmed and let us not forget that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. I believe all the peoples of the United Nations demand this in the shaping of the peace."

Washington, Aug. 16—Rep. William L. Dawson (D) Ill., only Negro member of congress, was reported today to have been chosen assistant to Democratic national chairman Robert E. Hannegan to head a large staff at party headquarters in the Biltmore hotel, New York City.

Dawson's reported selection was said to reflect some Democratic misgivings of an asserted swing in the colored vote to the Republican party in the 1944 presidential election.

The new party staff supplants the former colored division set up for national election campaigns.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—A Swiss radio report quoting German sources said today that Allied bombers had raided Venice, in northeastern Italy.

The Swiss broadcast, claimed that the Palazzo Di San Marco was damaged.

CIVILIAN GOODS TO COME SOON AFTER VICTORY

Defeat Of Huns May Signal Return Of Production To 1939 Level

SPEED AFTER JAPS FALL

Restrictions To Remain On Only Few Items—Nelson Voices Optimism

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—In the first official estimate of how much civilian production may be expected upon the defeat of Germany, WPB Chief Donald Nelson contended today that civilian goods manufacture probably would equal that of 1939—a near record year.

Furthermore, Nelson promised, WPB is ready and willing to lift virtually all of its production controls shortly after the fall of Japan, retaining restrictions only on a few items including crude rubber, tin and lumber.

Japan's downfall likewise will see a "surprisingly" rapid return to production of civilian automobiles by the large auto building plants, Nelson declared.

This was an unusually optimistic report from the WPB chairman and came even as new Allied invasion forces whipped into France and stepped up hopes for an early collapse of the Nazi military machine.

Nelson predicted war production will drop about 40 percent when the Nazis are defeated, allowing approximately a 30 percent jump in civilian production over the present output.

Employment Gaps

Employment gaps may be expected after the war in some instances, he warned, but "industry after industry" will not be affected because they already have large backlogs of unfilled orders.

Some of the concerns which probably will be unaffected by unemployment gaps include farm machinery and textile concerns, anticipating the principal problem to center around automotive and other durable goods production where schedules have been "scrambled" to meet munitions output.

"The automobile industry will surprise the nation the way it gets back into production," Nelson said, adding that it is expected to return to production "in much less than a year." He praised the industry as having "some of our most capable" men who were instrumental in the change-over to war production.

Nelson and War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, meanwhile, issued a joint statement on WPB's latest civilian production report explaining that war production must come first, but that available manpower, facilities and material should be used for turning out domestic goods.

HEAVY RAINFALL BOOSTS TOTAL FAR OVER JULY

Circleville has received more rain in the first half of August than for the entire month of July, weather records revealed Wednesday.

The downpour Tuesday night, hardest rain of the Summer, was recorded as 1.63 inches precipitation by Weather Observer Roy Hawkes. This brought to 2.98 inches the total for the month to date. July's total, most of which fell in the last few days of the month, was 1.81 inches.

The rain was too late to help most crops, but pastures and lawns were expected to benefit greatly. Scioto river Wednesday morning was at its highest stage in weeks, 2.93 feet.

High temperature Tuesday was 92 degrees, and after the rain the mercury dipped to 70.

Frenchmen Hail New Invasion As Means Of Quick Paris Release

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The invasion of Southern France was hailed by French officials in Washington today as a means of hastening the liberation of Paris—a city where transportation is paralyzed, restaurants are closing and people of all classes stand in soup lines for their food.

Reports from the underground reaching the French delegation in Washington, describe Paris as a city whose fortunes suddenly have taken a turn for the worst.

After four years of livable conditions, from 1940 to 1944, Parisians now find themselves in the midst of chaos and privation. The Allied threat to Paris has thrown German controls into confusion, prevented movement of food and fuel supplies and threatened the city of nearly three million with starvation.

During the war years, Parisians have had a meat ration of 180 grams a week. Now the ration is only twenty to thirty grams. Milk supplies have been cut by more than half, and milk is available only for infants and expectant mothers.

Stocks of coal have dwindled from 75,000 tons April 1, to a mere three weeks supply at the end of July. The result is a lack of light and power. Paris suffers a blackout that is not related to air attacks. The famous "Metro" subway runs only part time.

Though this condition brings suffering to the people, it also has the effect of cutting down production of Nazi-controlled factories. According to underground reports, the famous Renault firm—closed down six days for lack of coal, and the Citroen works in three separate plants (Clichy, St. Ouen, and Levallois) closed down for an indefinite period.

The food shortage, these sources disclosed, was the direct result of military movement on the highways.

Truck farmers in the greater Paris area, who normally bring their produce into the city by horse-and-cart during the night have been driven from the highways by Allied bombings. Moreover, the roads are jammed with retreating German soldiers and military machines.

French officials expressed hope that the Allied advance would not by-pass Paris, but would liberate the beleaguered city and permit relief supplies to be brought in.

AXIS PERIODICAL MAKES PLEA FOR A "JUST" PEACE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—In the midst of Germany's worsening military position, the German foreign office's NPD agency has transmitted abroad a propaganda dispatch quoting the periodical "Berlin-Rome-Tokyo" as appealing for a peace based on a "genuine compromise of interests" among "victors and vanquished." The agency declared that, otherwise, the seeds of a new war would be sown "even supposing a vanquished Germany and a vanquished Japan would not be able to rise again."

The NPD wireless dispatch, the text of which was received today by the Office of War Information, was transmitted for dissemination abroad by Nazi diplomats and agents on the eve of the Allied landings in southern France.

According to the Wilhelmstrasse's press service, the article on which the dispatch was based was published under the title of "The Third War" as an editorial in Berlin-Rome-Tokyo, which was established in May, 1939 to advance the cultural and political aims of the then flourishing Axis.

"A war is not in vain if it ends with a genuine compromise of interests," the Nazi agency quoted the article as saying.

The Nazi propaganda dispatch, which conspicuously used such phrases as "a vanquished Germany and a vanquished Japan" and "victory of the Anglo-Saxons and Russians in this war," took the line that neither a "harsh" or a "mild" peace could eliminate the possibility of another war. It maintained that peace could come only through a "compromise" solution enabling Germany and Japan to obtain more "space" and participate in free access to the world's raw materials.

MEMORY LAPSE REGARDING BABY PROVES COSTLY

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—A slight lapse of memory was responsible today for a sentence of one year in the women's reformatory at Dwight, Ill., imposed on Mrs. Mary Otleviss, 24, wife of a soldier in France.

After an evening of drinking in a south side saloon, she left for home completely forgetting her 16-month-old baby, Barbara, whom she had taken to the tavern with her, and did not remember the child until she awoke the next day.

In the meantime, an unidentified woman had taken Barbara home, returning the baby to the saloon the next day and placing her in a telephone booth. Barbara will be cared for at an orphanage while her forgetful mother is in the reformatory.

NAZI MORALE DROOPS

Few Hun Troops Expected To Be Caught In Trap Closing In Normandy

BULLETIN
ZURICH, Aug. 16—Fascist sources were quoted by the newspaper La Suisse today as asserting that Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring left his headquarters in Italy a few hours after the Allies landed in southern France yesterday.

The paper said it is believed important conferences among all German commanders in France and Italy now are underway.

BULLETIN
LONDON, Aug. 16—United States heavy-weight bombers, more than 1,000 strong, blasted Nazi aircraft factories, engine plants, synthetic oil refineries and airdromes in Germany today.

The fighter-escorted bombers dropped their missiles visually, securing good to excellent results, headquarters said.

BULLETIN
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 16—Assault forces of the first Canadian army battled the Nazis inside the shrine city of Falaise today in a final effort to snap shut the slowly closing escape route of remnants of the German Seventh army attempting to pull out of Normandy.

BULLETIN
LONDON, Aug. 16—Allied troops invading southern France have taken 2,000 German prisoners so far, a combined British press dispatch circulated by Reuters's reported today.

By International News Service
Allied invasion forces established a firm bridgehead on the southern coast of France today after fanning out across Riviera beaches and driving inland to seize high ground positions behind the coast where airborne forces barred the paths of possible Nazi counter-attacks.

An announcement that the invasion operations were "proceeding according to plan" came from Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters in Italy, and a naval announcement revealed that Allied naval and merchant vessels were "proceeding smoothly" with their task of building up the beachhead army by landing reinforcements day and night.

Official secrecy still veiled the exact location of the landings, but the Nazi-controlled Oslo radio stated that the fighting was focused at St. Raphael where Allied forces held a 15 mile beachhead.

Bombers Attack
Heavy bombers, medium and attack bombers and fighter-bombers smashed at German defense positions and communications in southern France while supporting the invasion, battering bridges, road junctions, airdromes, troop concentrations and other military targets.

Fighter planes swarming in the sky over the beachheads continued to cover the invasion, while Allied officers agreed that the operation was one of the smoothest and most successful of its kind.

Three substantial beachheads were gained within six hours after the first assault waves raced ashore.

The unexpectedly light Nazi opposition to the landings was attributed to two factors, the shattering pre-invasion aerial and naval bombardment, and a sharp decline in Wehrmacht morale. Several hundred German soldiers (Continued on Page Two)

BLOW UP HARBORS

LONDON, Aug. 16—The Nazi DNB agency said today that German forces had blown up harbor installations at Nice, Cannes and St. Tropez on the southern French coast.

were taken prisoner in the first few hours of the operations.

1,000 Ships In Fleet

A report from International News Service Correspondent Larry Newman, who covered the invasion from Admiral Henry K. Hewitt's flagship, said that 1,000 Allied vessels took part in the landings, 200 more than previously announced.

In Normandy, British-Canadian troops smashed into the outskirts of Falaise to dominate the main roads leading from the Allied trap about German forces southwest of the Seine while American Third Army units driving north toward a junction with the British were reported beyond Argentan, only some seven miles south of Falaise.

An Allied headquarters spokesman predicted that the final closing of the Allied trap would not take a great many German troops. The spokesman revealed that hidden secondary roads, not open to aerial observation, had enabled the bulk of Nazi men and material to escape from the trap to join main German forces to the East.

Allied aerial reports indicated that a steady trickle of Germans continued to flee through the narrow escape gap.

Nazi Targets Hit

Allied planes hit a wide variety of Nazi targets in Europe, and RAF Mosquitos raided Berlin for the second consecutive night. German radio warnings indicated renewed aerial attacks in strength against the Reich from two directions. "Achtung" warnings reported Allied bombers over northwest and central Germany and another warning told of raiders over the Austrian Tyrol and Bavaria, approaching the Reich from the south.

On the Eastern front, Russian fighters drove north toward the frontier of East Prussia after crossing the Biebrza river. Heavy aerial support by Stormovik planes covered the Soviet assault.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow predicted an early invasion of German territory in East Prussia.

On the Baltic front, Soviet elements smashing west of Pskov neared the vital Tallinn-Riga railroad and threatened to slice the trapped Nazi Baltic forces in two. At Praga, near Warsaw, Red army units beat back desperate Nazi counter-attacks as Wehrmacht defenders strove to blunt Soviet spearheads thrust into vital Nazi positions.

From the Southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported new neutralization raids on the vital Jap base at Halmahera. Medium and heavy bombers hit the base in separate raids, with heavy anti-aircraft action greeting Liberator formations.

SELF INFLICTED SHOT PUTS GIRL IN HOSPITAL

Betty Jane Welsh, 17, Bloomfield, was in Berger hospital Wednesday, receiving treatment for injuries which apparently were self-inflicted, the sheriff's department reported.

According to the report, the girl shot herself with a .22 calibre rifle in a garage at her home in Bloomfield about 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. She was attended by Dr. R. S. Hosler, of Ashville, and brought to the hospital in the Schlegel ambulance.

Richard James Sampall, 40, of Bloomfield, was being held in county jail for investigation in connection with the case.

U. S. Overseas Propaganda 'Gets Home' Throughout World With Radio, Pamphlets

"GOING TO PRESS"—A British field artillery crew of the 51st Highland division loads a gun with 25-pound shells crammed with Allied propaganda leaflets to be fired to the enemy, and the natives under his power.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — American propaganda girdles the globe today and ranges from the distribution of alphabet booklets to French children to daily broadcasts of stock market reports to occupied Shanghai.

American propaganda and psychological warfare operations were built from scratch, just like its military machine. Director Elmer Davis concedes that at the start OWI was like the high school football team that had to get its practice playing Notre Dame.

Even today, the OWI does not attempt to match the expenditures of the Axis, although its propaganda and information reaches every country. Germany, some experts figure, spends a half billion dollars annually on propaganda, against $56,000,000 for OWI overseas activities.

With 20 major outposts and 15 branches scattered around the world from Stockholm to Sydney and 35 new ones planned for the continent of Europe, the OWI sells the American point of view via the press, radio, motion pictures and other media.

Radio has developed into one of World War II's most potent propaganda outlets. In the last war, George Creel, America's propagandist-in-chief, spent not a nickel for radio activities—there weren't any. Similarly, the Navy invested in no aircraft carriers.

In the next year, however, the OWI will spend $3,460,000 to broadcast news and information throughout the world. More than 2,000 programs go out weekly over some 20 international short wave transmitters on the East and West coasts of the United States.

OWI hopes to have some 36 transmitters in operation soon. The Japanese, for example, now employ 46 stations, broadcasting continuously on both long and short wave.

Listeners Far and Wide
A new American transmitter will be constructed at Hawaii and built at Delano, Cal. Only recently, the OWI placed in operation its new radio facilities in England.

From persons repatriated on the Gripsholm and other sources, officials in Washington have obtained positive evidence of listeners in Manila, Thailand, French Indo China and other far-away places. The OWI has received "fan mail" from occupied China.

An estimated 350 listening posts are operated in Poland. The Polish underground periodicals, with a circulation of between 350,000 and 500,000, rely exclusively on Allied radio news.

At the same time, the OWI will spend $728,344 in the next fiscal year to transmit approximately 100,000 words of news daily by cable and wireless to its outposts for dissemination to foreign publications in neutral and allied countries.

Before the agency came into being, only five per cent of the news in the Turkish press was American news. Today more than 50 per cent of the foreign news in the Turkish press comes from OWI.

The news columns of the late Raymond Clapper were circulated to 21 newspapers in Switzerland, many of which go across the border into Germany.

Up until the recent occupation of the country by Nazi forces, the newspapers in Hungary carried a full news file supplied by the OWI representative in Bern.

In Ireland, the OWI distributes a weekly "Letter From America" with a circulation of 22,000—almost as great as the daily Irish Times. The newsletter, designed to show Irish readers that the United Nations have the power to defeat the Axis, keeps alive a link between Ireland and the United States through news which is heavily censored at this time in the Irish press. American Minister Gray approves every issue of the newsletter.

In its broadcasts to China, the OWI includes a daily resume on stock market operations. Many residents in occupied Shanghai play the stock market and the inclusion of market reports builds up a listening audience to the American propaganda programs.

Japan Listens In
Even in Japan, OWI news finds an audience. A popular Tokyo magazine declared in a recent issue that American radio programs are heard by neutral Japanese missions in Japan. The publication said:

"Today's short wave broadcasts revealed from these diplomatic missions are by tomorrow morning already being passed on by those who have visited the missions."

"And so, through the network left by Grew (former American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew), before he returned to America, there are people who are consciously working on America's behalf."

"The news passed on by these people, and then passed on again by a variety of business or cultural contacts, is communicated to the whole country at an extraordinary speed. For that reason you can't very well say that things do not get around, even though short wave wireless is forbidden to the general public."

"That is why America obstinately goes on making short wave broadcasts and there must still be a great many short wave receiving sets left in Japan. Propaganda is never in the form that you can say this is propaganda."

"If Mr. Roosevelt says in a message to Congress, America can build five ships a day that naturally comes in. Now it is just that part that is propaganda. People begin to think, 'If America can build five merchant ships a day, it is terrible.'"

Next—Enemy Propaganda.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE
Suit for divorce was filed in common pleas court Wednesday by Vera E. Hettinger against Ernest Hettinger. The petition states they were married April 15, 1914, and are the parents of eight children, five of whom are minors. The plaintiff charges gross neglect and asks custody of the minor children and an adopted child, temporary and permanent alimony.

PARENTS OF SON
A son weighing 8 1/2 pounds was born Monday to Pfc. and Mrs. John Seyfang Jr., at the home of Mrs. Seyfang's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brungs, 116 Town street. Pfc. Seyfang is stationed at an army camp in Florida.

"And so, through the network left by Grew (former American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew), before he returned to America, there are people who are consciously working on America's behalf."

"The news passed on by these people, and then passed on again by a variety of business or cultural contacts, is communicated to the whole country at an extraordinary speed. For that reason you can't very well say that things do not get around, even though short wave wireless is forbidden to the general public."

"That is why America obstinately goes on making short wave broadcasts and there must still be a great many short wave receiving sets left in Japan. Propaganda is never in the form that you can say this is propaganda."

"If Mr. Roosevelt says in a message to Congress, America can build five ships a day that naturally comes in. Now it is just that part that is propaganda. People begin to think, 'If America can build five merchant ships a day, it is terrible.'"

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE
Suit for divorce was filed in common pleas court Wednesday by Vera E. Hettinger against Ernest Hettinger. The petition states they were married April 15, 1914, and are the parents of eight children, five of whom are minors. The plaintiff charges gross neglect and asks custody of the minor children and an adopted child, temporary and permanent alimony.

PARENTS OF SON
A son weighing 8 1/2 pounds was born Monday to Pfc. and Mrs. John Seyfang Jr., at the home of Mrs. Seyfang's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brungs, 116 Town street. Pfc. Seyfang is stationed at an army camp in Florida.

Colmer Bill Nears Vote In House

bers feel that all government plants costing more than five million dollars should not be disposed of without congress' specific consent," said Manasco. "If this is agreed to, it would seriously hamper the program."

Meanwhile, a somewhat similar surplus property bill in the senate was to be scrutinized today at a public hearing of the military affairs committee. Witnesses asked to testify were Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and Chairman Maury Maverick, of the Smaller War Plants Corporation.

The measure is sponsored by Senators Stewart (D) Tenn., Taft (R) Ohio, and Murray (D) Mont., but is not expected to be ready for senate consideration until Monday.

The house ways and means committee wrestled again today with the senate-enacted George bill creating an overall office of demobilization and reconversion to handle the transition of industry and labor from war to peace. After an inconclusive meeting yesterday, Chairman Doughton (D) N. C., invited War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes to appear and present his views.

4H CLUB NEWS in Pickaway County

Walnut Wonder Workers
The Walnut Wonder Workers 4-H club met August 10 at the home of John Milton Brinker. There were 10 members and six visitors present.

The meeting was opened by the 4-H club pledge. During the meeting, we went through and discussed some of our 4-H pamphlets. We also had an interesting talk on 4-H camp.

The next meeting will be held August 25 at the home of Linda and Stephen Sylbaugh.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Brinker.

Betty Martin, news reporter.

Scoti Hardy Workers
The Scoti Hardy Workers' 4-H club held its regular meeting at Scoti township school with nine members and one visitor present.

We worked on our books and the girls told about attending camp. All members reported that their articles were finished.

The next meeting, August 16, will be at 2 p. m. at the Scoti school, Commercial Point.

Helen Haughn, news reporter.

GOSH!
SOUTH BEND, Wash.—Two motorists, a deer and a cougar became involved in a hide-and-seek game on the Ocean Beach highway the other night. The cougar, out after its quarry, tore across the road and was narrowly missed by one of the cars. At the same time, an automobile, coming from the other direction, was almost thrown off the road when it grazed the deer.

CITY'S SCHOOLS STAFFED; READY TO OPEN SEPT. 14

Circleville schools are completely staffed for the school year which opens Thursday, Sept. 14, Superintendent Frank Fischer announced Wednesday.

With the employment Tuesday night by the board of education of Mrs. Margaret Pollitt, of Bladen, Ohio, the roster of teachers was completed, Mr. Fischer said.

Mrs. Pollitt is a graduate of Marshall college and has taught eight years in Gallia county. She will fill an elementary position here.

Mrs. Pollitt's, J. Donald Pollitt, will move here with his wife and their 14-year-old son, who will enter high school. Mr. Pollitt will enroll for doctorate work at Ohio State university.

Superintendent Fischer said that it was almost impossible to hire coaches and the coaching duties left vacant by Tom Armstrong, who resigned to accept the coaching post at Logan, will be handled by someone from the present staff of male teachers.

SUB STRIKERS GET WARNING TO RETURN TO JOBS

GROTON, Conn., Aug. 16—Strikers at the submarine building plant of the Electric Boat Company, estimated at 90 percent of the personnel of 11,000, had an admonition today from the Navy to return to their jobs.

The Navy interceded when Lieut. Commander K. E. Yarnell of the Third Naval District local relations division arrived in Groton from New York last night and conferred with the management and officials of the shipbuilders' and engineers' union.

Yarnell emphasized that navy policy requires resumption of work before strike negotiations can be started.

The union called the strike Monday over 34 grievances after, according to company officials, the men had voted overwhelmingly against walkout in a NLRB poll Saturday.

Oscar Troehler, Johnny Brown Meet and Talk Pumpkin Show In Italy

A meeting in Italy between a former musician at the annual Circleville Pumpkin Show and a Circleville soldier with nostalgic memories of the Pumpkin Show is the subject of an interesting letter received by the Herald from Sgt. Oscar Troehler, with an engineering group in Italy.

Sgt. Troehler tells of his visit with Johnny Brown, former conductor of the Lancaster high school band and Hallsville band, both of which played for the Pumpkin Show.

Here's the letter:
"Dear Editor and Friends of Pickaway county:
"Having been overseas for what seems like years and missing the good entertainment that I enjoyed it was good to be able to attend a stage show put on by the United States Coast Guard of which Johnny

Brown was the M. C. I'm sure many of you remember him back in the good old days of 1933 through to about '38. He conducted the Lancaster high school band of which a nephew of Ted Lewis was a member. He also was with the Hallsville band, both bands which furnished some good entertainment at the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

"Johnny and I had a short chat about the good times we had had at the Pumpkin Show etc. And what it would be like to be back in God's country again.

"I wish it was possible to relate to you some of the experiences I've had over here and what I've seen but I'm sure all of you realize that it's best not to talk about such things at this time. I can say though that I have had some good times here, the best of which was a visit to St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome. Rome is a beautiful city and so much different than all the other cities I've been in.

"Well friends I guess I had better bring this to an end for this time. So until next time so long and good luck to every one and keep up the good work towards the war effort. Here's hoping to see you all before so very long."

MORE THAN 500 EXPECTED AT BIG FISH FRY

More than 500 persons are expected to attend the Pickaway Farmers' and Sportsmen's association fish fry Thursday evening at Gold Cliff Chateau.

W. H. Wheelock and "Buck" Ryder of the state conservation department are to be the principal speakers at the event. Members of conservation organizations in neighboring counties have been invited to the fish fry.

At the fish fry members of the Farmers' and Sportsmen's association hope to announce the decision of state officials on the proposed memorial lake for Washington township. Preliminary plans and estimates have been made and members of the association, which has been sponsoring the opening drive for the lake, are expecting a favorable announcement from state officials.

The fish fry is scheduled to start at 7 p. m.

TURN OF THE YEAR

THERE comes a lonely evening in August when the singing of the cicadae shrills insistently on the ear. Perhaps they have been singing before—the listener does not know. He does know that he hears them now, and that they bring a peculiar sadness at the thought of this year's Winter.

For when the insects make their sharp music, Summer is ending. By the calendar there may be another month—or more. But the turn of the year has come.

This is the high tide, with grain being harvested, corn and fruits ripening and coming into market. Noonday sun is hot, but nights begin to have a slight chill before daybreak. Spring is gone. Summer is going. Winter is on the way.

Why should Winter be sad? For this year it seems so, even to those who love it, and who count the hot days well gone when September brings its vigor. Perhaps because the war is sad, and now that the page is turned into the last chapter but one, it is unbearable to wait out the fighting through the last days of anxiety and the bitterness of grief.

But—here we are, and here is the high tide. Enjoy it while you may. Take the sun, the blueness of the sky, the richness of crop and fruitage—take its full glow and beauty, the strength it builds into body and mind for Winter yet to come. Winter will be over, and war will be over, all in due time. Another Spring will come to the heart as it will to the outdoor world.

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick; but the desire, when it cometh, is a tree of life.

THEY ALSO SERVE

YES, the war is won by our fighting forces and the determined spirit of other people. But it is being won no less by all the millions of Americans going quietly about their normal business, and by the spirit in which they do it.

Here is not something to brag or make speeches about. It concerns a branch of the war effort conducted voluntarily, by millions of people who do it as a matter of course, and would be surprised if anybody praised them for what they are doing.

This comment is made in the face of the recent strike in the Philadelphia transportation system, and corresponding labor difficulties in various other places. They are lamentable, but exceptional and of short duration. The spirit of most war workers, like that of the fighting men, is sound.

Out-of-Towners Make Folk From Capital Feel Famous

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—Funny, but when you live as close to important people as you do in Washington, you forget how important they are. You take them as average citizens. Daily associates. Plain folks, really. Until you get out of this town of distorted values and somebody says, for example:

"Have you ever met Senator Barkley? The one from Kentucky who seems to be sort of close to the president? I think he ran for vice president in Chicago—do you know him?"

"Do you know Alben Barkley?" (You tack on the first name or Washington method of celebrity calling. This always impresses the stranger.) "I should say I do know Alben Barkley! He lives in my apartment house. I often see him at the door struggling for a cab. He's sort of square architecturally and in character, too. Has two pretty daughters. One married to the nephew of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the other is the wife of Max Truitt, a smart, young Washington lawyer. Mrs. Barkley is an awfully nice woman. She has not been too well lately."

"Who else do you know?"

"Mercy, what an order! Let me see, who've I run into lately? Oh, yes, Frank Murphy. Of the United States supreme court. Saw Frank lunching at the Mayflower with a bevy of beauties. The bevy consisted of two. Always a safe number for a bachelor who is given to shying at matrimony."

"Of course, there's Arthur Vandenberg, senator from Michigan. Arthur would have made a good presidential candidate. Arthur keeps on being a leader in his party. Look like? Well, he's a big fellow with rather handsome, bold features and a lot of almost white hair. He has presence and a sense of humor. Everybody doesn't know about the sense of humor."

"Vandenberg and his attractive wife live in an apartment hotel. Arthur won't make any engagements for Sunday. Prefers to loaf

CHINESE TROOPS

WASHINGTON—Now that we have stepped up the pace of the drives against Japan, more attention is being given to the part which Chinese troops can play in the war. In this connection, one of the most important unwritten chapters of the war now can be revealed—the part which Chinese troops and the U. S. Air Transport Command played in blocking the invasion of India.

At the time the Japs were driving into northern India last Spring several thousand Chinese troops were flown into India and succeeded in stopping the onrushing Japs.

Day after day the British army had been pushed back, until the Japs menaced the Imphal rail line and seemed on the verge of spreading out into northern India. British-Indian troops had been powerless to stop the Jap advance. One year before, at Quebec, the advance through Burma had been announced and Lord Louis Mountbatten had been placed in charge. Instead of an advance through Burma, however, the Japs reversed the process.

In this emergency, the U. S. Air Transport Command loaded several thousand Chinese soldiers into transport planes, flew them over "The Hump" (the Himalayas, highest mountain range in the world), and dumped them down in northern India.

PACKING 'EM IN

The Chinese were packed into the planes in such numbers that they practically lay on top of each other. They were literally like sardines. Flying over 20,000 feet over the Himalayas they were without oxygen tanks, and numbers of them passed out. Unloaded in India, many were dragged from the plane unconscious, laid out on the ground and had to be revived.

However, given food and a week's rest, they bucked up and made admirable soldiers. They proved tough jungle fighters, which the British and Indian troops are not. Thus the Japs were stopped and the Assam Valley was saved.

Two facts stand out as a result of this hitherto untold chapter in the war. One Transport Command, which flew in all kinds of weather over the most difficult terrain in the world. They took General Chennault's gasoline and flew it in reverse, not to aid China, but to aid India.

The other was the example of what the Chinese troops could do in a pinch and what they might be able to do against Japan in North China if properly equipped and led.

Early in the war, before the Japs took Burma and Singapore, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek formally offered Chinese troops to Prime Minister Churchill to fight in India or any other place in the Orient. The offer was refused. The Chinese believed at the time that Churchill did not want Chinese troops in Burma, a country once part of China, which the Chinese sometimes talk about getting back.

CHINESE ON THE JOB

Since then the Chinese have done a great job in building the airports from which U. S. B-29's take off for the bombing of Japan. And with proper leadership and equipment many believe they could do an A-1 job in taking other objectives.

The final decision probably depends (1) on political factors; (2) on transport-

The Dark Mystery Of Early Gray Hair

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THERE ARE a good many more things we don't know about the hair than the facts we do know. I keep being asked: "What is the cause of graying hair, and what shall I do about it?" Anybody who takes a good look at me knows I either don't know a thing about the answer to that one, or don't give a cuss. Also my mail is constantly loaded with questions about how to stop falling hair, and what is the cause of baldness, and I haven't the faintest idea. Nor does anybody else, although a lot of them try to kid you into confidence that they do.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Just let me ask two simple questions in reply. "Why are men so much more bald than women?" And—"Why are bald-headed men seldom gray?" If you take a census on your way downtown you'll see it's true, but why—that is a question mark. It is unusual to see a man over 55 who does not fall into one of these three classes: (1) bald on top; (2) gray without baldness; (3) gray at the temples, thinner on top.

Premature Gray Hair

The premature gray hair situation is full of unanswered problems. Why do many men and some women gray only at the temples while the top of the head retains its youthful hue? If gray hair is due to some general chemical change in the body, such as lack of a vitamin, why aren't all the hairs affected at the same time and to the same degree? Premature graying is sometimes really premature—I know of a girl 14 years old who has many gray hairs and has had some since the age of 10. She is in perfect health, not otherwise unusually mature.

And there are dozens of cases of hair that grayed and then came back to its original color. Jackson and McMurtry's textbook on the hair cites the case of a man with black hair and beard who had sudden loss of color from both beard and scalp, then during the next five years gradual restoration of color. Then after a few years he grayed again, and again came back to the original shading. The cycle repeated itself a third time in 30 years. During all this time there was no ill health. Dr. G. W. Griffith reported the case of a fireman who had had gray hair for eight years. He had been blond. At a fire he was exposed to extreme cold for a long time, all but his scalp, which was protected by a wool skull cap under his helmet. Twenty-four hours later his hair began to turn black.

Experiments Disappointing

"Restoration of gray hair" is one of those phrases like "fountain of youth" that sounds better than it works out in practice. It all began with some experiments on rats. By shaking a watery solution of liver extract, yeast or rice bran with fuller's earth the thiamine, riboflavin and pyridoxine are removed leaving a solution of the "filtrate factor." Rats fed with a diet containing the other vitamins but lacking the filtrate factor soon show patches of gray fur and other evidences of senescence. On adding the filtrate factor to the diet again these symptoms clear up. It is known that this factor contains panthothenic acid.

These experimental results can be carried over into natural human experience, but only in a very disappointing way. The wife of one of the most eminent dermatologists of my acquaintance tried the anti-gray hair factor on herself and reports that "restoration" is a gross exaggeration: it turns the hair a kind of dirty yellow—the color of old rope.

Incidentally, the discoverer of the anti-gray hair factor looks a good deal more like Santa Claus on top of his head than he does like George Raft. He looks more like George Raft in the face than he does like George Raft.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

Matthew is selfish. Judith thought, he has always been. His mother's fault, I suppose. It doesn't pay, she argued with herself, to be so sacrificial. If I ever have children I won't martyr myself to them. I'll give them their emotional independence, it's about the only thing you can give them of any value besides standards of decency and education. Mary's done all that for Matthew; she's given him honesty and integrity, she's watched over his health, and she's worked for his education. But he isn't independent. He thinks he is. But he isn't.

Aloud she said, "I'll be glad to see Lynn too. He's such a darling." During the Autumn Eva Lambert wrote Judith cheerfully that she had canceled a projected sailing to Honolulu although they might go after the first of the year. But Cousin Marion wrote also, in agitation and underlining every few words, "You mustn't," she wrote, "ever tell her that I told you, as she would be furious. But your mother isn't well at all, Judith, that heavy cold she took last month just hangs on. The doctor advised the Honolulu trip but she doesn't seem to have the strength to undertake it."

Judith showed the letter to Matthew and he shook his head over it. "I can just see Cousin Marion," he remarked, "about five-thirty this as a rail, and very garrulous. People who underline words always talk too much. She's an alarmist, darling. Why don't you write your mother's doctor if you are really disturbed?"

"Cousin Marion," Judith retorted, "is five feet ten and weighs at least two hundred. She could pick Mother up in one arm and me in the other. And she isn't in the least an alarmist. Matthew, I won't be easy until I see for myself. I think I'll fly out."

He said, in blank dismay, "You don't mean now?"

"As soon as I can get ready." They were together in the living room. Judith went over, sat down on his knees, and put her arms around him. She said, "I'll miss you dreadfully. But this is something I must do, dearest."

He said, after a moment, "But you were going to Boston with me to the convention next week."

"There will be other conven-

His jaw was stubbornly set. "And there's the new house," he reminded her.

They had found, at last, exactly what they wanted, just across the Connecticut line, an hour from town by the parkways; a small house that needed very little remodeling, and two acres of ground with a tinkling little brook fringed by woods. Mary was undertaking the redecoration for them.

"Mary will see to it," said Judith; "don't look so appalled, Matthew. I shan't be gone very long."

"But what am I to do without you?" he demanded. "I was so upset when you were with Mother last summer. I simply can't get along."

She broke in, kissing him, ruffling his dark hair with her hands. "Of course you'll get along."

"If it was necessary..." he began.

"How do you know it isn't?" she queried, sitting up straight. "If I have a week with her, that's all I want. It isn't much to ask of you, Matthew."

"You're not asking," he remarked; "you're telling me!" Judith slid off his knees and stood up, looking down at him as he leaned back against a corner of the big couch.

"All right," she said, "then I'm telling you. Suppose it was Mary... three thousand miles away... and she was ill? Wouldn't you take the first plane out?"

"Of course," he agreed, "if I was sure."

"How could you be sure unless...?" She broke off in exasperation. She said hotly, "You're the most selfish man I ever—"

"Selfish!" Matthew repeated, astonished. "Selfish because I don't want you to go away from me? Most women would be flattered. A lot of husbands would be enchanted with the prospect of a marital vacation." He grinned at her, his ill humor evaporating. "You're so pretty. Come here and kiss me," he ordered.

Judith leaned over and touched her lips briefly to his. He complained, "That's no kind of kiss," and pulled her down beside him. Several moments later she emerged from his embrace and shook her head.

"That solves nothing," she told him.

"It solves everything."

She said, "We've been married a year—"

They had had their first big party a week or so before, to celebrate their wedding anniversary. And had quarreled very definitely over the invitations. Matthew had given her his list and asked to see hers, and had protested against the inclusion of Elizabeth and Peter. "I thought that was off," he said.

Judith had argued that it was a big party... "not just our closest friends," she said, "although strictly speaking they are in that category. There are dozens of people down here whom we barely know."

He'd said, "But we want to know them."

So they had quarreled, yet it wasn't really a quarrel. Matthew stated his opinion and his will and let it go at that. No matter how angry she became or how disturbed, he did not take it seriously. And somehow at the end she was in his arms again and that made everything upon which they differed seem suddenly totally unimportant.

Now Judith said, "Married a year... and we don't know each other at all, sometimes."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ABANDON YOUR CUSTOM

THERE IS nothing the matter with the usual policy of scoring the ace and king first if there are nine trumps on your side. Following it every time, however, is just plain bad bridge. If finding one opponent with a doubly guarded queen would beat your contract in case you took your two tops at the start, it may be highly advisable to attempt a finesse first, or even deliberately give up a first round trick in trumps, especially if that is necessary to leave a trump in the dummy for ruffing.

Jim Barnes, the old-time national open golf champion, had a policy on the putting green which he described as "Miss them quick." His idea was that prompt action would prevent binding nervousness which would destroy accuracy.

The declarer on this deal must have had a policy which could be epitomized in the words "Get set quick." Anyway, that is exactly what he did.

He won the club K lead with the A and immediately raked in the heart A and K, as soon as he saw his side had nine trumps and only four were out against him. In those first three tricks he made his contract impossible. To the fourth he led the heart J, which West took with the Q. South's only hope was that West would not return a spade, but the situation he saw compelled that lead. Consequently three spade tricks beat the contract.

All that South had to do to make his contract airtight, after winning the first trick with the club A in the dummy, was to finesse the heart J. West could have won that, but his side could then have scored only two tricks in spades, since the heart 8 would have remained in dummy to police the third round of the suit with a ruff.

Celebration Marks Half Century of Marriage

Golden Wedding Observed By Hammels

Mr. and Mrs. George Hammel, 650 North Court street, were honored Tuesday at their home with a lovely celebration of their Golden Wedding anniversary, a family dinner at noon and an 'open house' in the evening marking the occasion. The celebration was arranged by their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Snow, and their granddaughter, Mrs. James Burrill, of Wilmette, Ill.

Gathered at the Hammel home at noon for the dinner were the honor guests: Dr. and Mrs. Snow and daughter Julia Jane, Mrs. Burrill and daughter, Lucille Walters, of Wilmette; Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Butt, Charles Butt, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pritchard and Mrs. F. S. Turner, of Nelsonville and Miss Adah Hammel, of North Pickaway street.

More than 75 guests called in the evening, coming from Circleville and Columbus.

Light refreshments were served from a table in the dining room. Centered with a beautifully decorated wedding cake, the table was further enhanced with artistic arrangements of flowers and lighted with tall candles. Miss Carrie Johnson, North Court street, and Mrs. Gladys Dean, Columbus, presided at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammel were married August 15, 1894, in Nelsonville on her parents' twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Twenty-five years ago, the two couples celebrated jointly in Nelsonville on Mr. and Mrs. Hammel's twenty-fifth anniversary and her parents' fiftieth. Mrs. Hammel was Myrtle Cummins before her marriage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hammel are enjoying good health, and are active members of the Presbyterian church, where he had served on the bench of deacons. Until his retirement a few years ago, Mr. Hammel operated an insurance business in this city. He is a member of all Masonic bodies and has been active in public affairs. Mrs. Hammel is an active member of the Order of the Eastern Star and of the Daughters of Union Veterans.

They have but one daughter, Dr. Lucille Snow, two granddaughters, Mrs. Burrill and Julia Jane Snow, and one great-granddaughter, Lucille Walters.

With the exception of a short period in Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Hammel have lived in Circleville during their married life.

Fish Fry

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bower were hosts at a fish fry on the W. J. Goodman farm, near Gold Cliff park. Present for the occasion were: Mrs. Noble Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Faunaugh, Henry Faunaugh and son, Enos, Mrs. Roger Smith, son, Jimmie, Mrs. I. N. McFarland, Jr., of Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Creager, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodman, of Amanda; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bower and family, the Misses Minnie and Amy Bower and Mrs. Doyle Williams, daughter, Carolyn, of near Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Herman DeLong, of Hallsville; Miss Ruth Strous, of Laurelvile; Walter Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Seimer and son, Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stephens, West High street; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bower, son, Dale, and daughter, Janet, and John Faunaugh, of the home. Afternoon callers at the Bower home were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Boystel and son, Mrs. Walter Boystel, Miss Bertha Faunaugh, of Lancaster; Mrs. Walter Goodman, Miss Beas Creager, Mrs. A. L. Wojack, Hildreth Willis and John Huston, of Circleville.

... or giving a returned soldier a taste of home

To soldiers overseas, Coca-Cola is a reminder of home. To soldiers at home on furlough, "Coke" is part of the old familiar way of living. With frosty bottles of "Coke" on hand, offering a man in uniform a refreshing welcome is an easy matter. Have a "Coke" is always the hospitable thing to say. In many lands overseas, as in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes. — has become a happy symbol of hospitality.

DE LA CRUZ IS WINNER IN LAST START FOR REDS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16—Tomas de la Cruz, the Reds' big Cuban righthander, bowed out of the National league today for the duration with an impressive 6-3 victory over the New York Giants tucked away in his hip pocket.

Just 28, the Cuban is scheduled to leave Saturday for Havana, where he plans to enlist in his nation's army. He said he would seek the aid of the Cuban consul in enlisting in the Cuban armed services.

His nine-hit pitching performance enabled the Reds to remain deadlocked with the Pittsburgh Pirates for second place. The Reds defeated the Boston Braves, 7-5.

The victory was the fourth straight over the Giants and their sixth in a row. New York now has lost eight straight games.

Today the Brooklyn Dodgers move into Cincinnati for a four-game series.

FLORIDA BOY TAKES NET SPOTLIGHT AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—Herbert "Buddy" Behrens of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., held the spotlight today in the metropolitan tennis tournament on the River Forest courts.

The Florida youngster, who is national boys' champion, advanced to the semifinals of the junior and under 16 singles as well as to the semifinals of the junior doubles before rain interrupted the play Tuesday afternoon.

STARS SAY—

For Wednesday, August 16 UNDER HIGHLY stimulated forces, emotions and energies this should prove to be a day of satisfaction and attainment, with many pleasant and progressive accomplishments and adventures in both business and private affairs. Initiative and ingenuity should be directed along ambitious lines, and this in connection with important organizations, secret as well as open, should bring rewards and a definite degree of happiness, possibly in relation to elderly persons or relatives. But be careful to handle these with sympathy and amiability.

If It Is Your Birthday Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a pleasant and prosperous year, with much stirring happiness in both private and business life. There may be exceptional or intriguing experiences with out of the ordinary persons, who may be endowed with artistic, intellectual or other cultural talents, although practical and dependable despite psychic, intuitive or emotional tendencies. Such contact might be with elders or mature relatives, responding to kindly, sympathetic and understanding gestures. Those in high places may also be cooperative.

A child born on this day should have many creative abilities, perhaps in cultural lines, although constructive and enterprising. It should enjoy a pleasant and productive life.

BROWNS REGAIN 6 1/2 GAME LEAD

Yanks Show Life By Edging White Sox 3-1; Tigers Hang On To Third

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—The New York Yankees are not out of the 1944 American League pennant race—not yet.

Crafty Joe McCarthy, who warned sportscasters not to sell the Yankees short, Tuesday saw his club win over the Chicago White Sox to clinch the series, three games to one. In drumming out their 3 to 1 triumph, the Yanks came up with some fine pitching in Bill Zuber, who turned in a three-hitter, Frankie Crosetti's first homer of the year in the second inning provided the loss for Joe Haynes, who allowed seven safeties.

The leading St. Louis Browns regained their 6 1/2 game edge, however, with a 6 to 5 win over the Boston Red Sox, after coming from behind to erase a five-run lead piled up by Boston in the first two innings. Vern Stephens' fourth homer in the sixth inning off Yank Terry gave George Caster a relief triumph.

The Detroit Tigers retained their hold on third place in the AL with a 3 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in 11 innings. Hal Newhouser, who relieved Dizzy Trout in the eighth inning, was credited with the win. It was in the eighth inning that the A's knocked in two runs to tie the count, and Jonas Berry, who took over on the A's mound in the ninth was charged with the defeat.

A single by third baseman Kenney Keltner in the last frame of a 12-inning fray broke up a great mound duel and wove a triumph for Al Smith over Emil (Dutch) Leonard as the Cleveland Indians nosed out the Washington Senators, 1 to 0, in a night game. Both hurlers yielded only four hits over the entire route, but Dutch lost out when an infield error put Orris Hockett aboard and Keltner's single won the game.

In the National League, it was the same old story—the St. Louis Cardinals won again. This time, it was over the last-place Brooklyn Dodgers in a 6 to 3 night triumph which saw rookie Ted Wilks pitch a six-hitter. Les Webber was charged with the loss as the Cards rolled in three runs in the third and three more in the fifth.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 1, in a six-inning contest called because of rain. A three-run rally in the fourth inning enabled Hy Vandenberg to chalk up the win. Al Gerheuser was tabbed for the defeat.

The New York Giants lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 3 as the South American Tomas de la Cruz granted the New Yorkers nine hits, including Ernie Lombardi's fourth inning homer. Larry Feldman, who allowed the same number of safeties, was charged with the loss when the Reds clinched the game with a three-run outburst in the seventh.

The Pittsburgh Pirates took the night encounter with the Boston Braves, 7 to 5. Xavier Rescigno, second of three Pittsburgh pitchers, was credited with the win. Ira Hutchison was tabbed for the loss.

they had their quarry cornered, they hesitated to go further, not knowing how he might be armed. One of the soldier guards, an Indian, volunteered to undertake the mission. He climbed into the tower and found, not the Nazi, but two very frightened pigeons.

KELTNER'S HIT GIVES INDIANS A 1-0 VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—A timely single by Ken Keltner in the twelfth inning today had given the Cleveland Indians a 1-0 win over the Washington Senators.

The hit, which broke up a pitching duel between Al Smith and Dutch Leonard, scored Oris Hockett, who got on base on Johnny Sullivan's error. Hockett advanced to second on Pat Seery's sacrifice. The Cleveland center gardner was the only Indian to get beyond first base.

Smith and Leonard, Washington's veteran knuckleballer, each gave up four hits.

Flannery's informant in the Danish underground says the cards are distributed all over Denmark—even in Gestapo headquarters. They look like ordinary business cards but are engraved with the legend: "ARCHITECTURAL ALTERATIONS A SPECIALTY! Just give us a ring. We come—bing! bing! Signed: Danish Saboteur Corp."

Garry Moore, the dynamic younger half of the Moore-Durante airer, who has broadcast radio shows from all three of the nation's network centers—New York, Chicago and Hollywood—says that the surroundings in which a show is aired have a marked effect on audience reaction. Moore points out that in New York many programs emanate from large theatres, thereby helping to create a receptive mood on the part of those beyond the footlights. In Chicago, where the facilities are more limited, it is harder to warm up the audience. In Hollywood, the ultra-modern studios lend an air of sophistication which is unconsciously adopted by the people viewing the show.

FEIT, FATE, FAITH

NEW YORK — Faith, but it's fate that he's Faith. Percy Faith, conductor of the CBS Sunday afternoon Pause show, owes his name to an immigration official's error. His family name, Feit, was pronounced "Fate" by his Austrian forebears. Arriving at a Canadian port as an immigrant, Percy's father patiently attempted the Austrian articulation—"Fate"—over and over again. The immigration inspector finally was satisfied. "Faith" it is! he nodded. And Faith it has since remained.

Council Gives Approval To Circleville Budget Request for $44,000

GASOLINE TAX DROP PROMPTS $6,000 INCREASE

Expenditure Of $4,000 On Street Repair Gains Board Approval

City council Wednesday had approved five new ordinances, a resolution, heard the first reading of another ordinance, approved the 1945 city budget and given a thorough "airing" of the "eggplant odor" which has caused numerous complaints to council recently.

M. P. Silverman, manager of the Circleville plant of the Conestoga Cream and Cheese Manufacturing company, was present at the meeting Tuesday night. He protested the action of the health commission which had served notice on the company to "abate the public nuisance" by getting rid of the odor before August 21, or face legal action. Mr. Silverman promised the company would do everything it could to get rid of the odor and asked for suggestions.

After discussion councilmen agreed to hold up further action against the company until the next regular meeting if it was shown officials were making an effort to solve the problem. Mr. Silverman promised to contact fertilizer plants to see if they could use the egg shells which are now being placed on a public "dump." He was accompanied by A. Curtin, vice president of the company.

Budget Presented

Councilman G. L. Crites, of the finance committee, presented the budget which asks for $44,000 for the general fund. Last year $38,000 was requested. Principal increases in the budget are $3,000 for legal expense, which may be necessary in the condemnation proceedings against the Ohio Water Service company; $5,000 for street repair and maintenance, made necessary because of the drop in gasoline and auto tax revenue which formerly supplied funds for street work. Other large items outside of regular operating expense are $8,000 for the hospital; $2,500 for the fire alarm system; $2,500 for sewers; $1,000 for parks and playgrounds.

The Pennsylvania railroad was ordered to repair, with materials approved by the service director, crossings, sidewalks and approaches at their grade crossings in the city.

To Repair Streets

An emergency ordinance providing $4,000 to purchase tar, asphalt and crushed stone to repair and resurface city streets was passed under suspension of rules after a recess during which Service Director Clarence Helvering explained the work planned and the cost.

Also passed under suspension of rules was another in the series of ordinances in the condemnation program against the water company and three ordinances which were given their second reading. The "water" measure states the city plans to condemn all property of the Circleville water plant authorizes the city solicitor to ask a court of record to impanel a jury to hear the case and set a valuation on the property.

Other ordinances passed increased the period of employment of the sewer rental collector to 52 weeks a year at a salary of $75 a month; provide for a relief cook at Berger hospital at 40c an hour; appropriate $600 for the construction of the Abernathy street sewer.

First reading was given an ordinance to limit parking on the north side of East Mound street from the first alley east of Court street to Court street to 15 minutes between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. except on Sundays and holidays.

Councilmen also heard a report from the service committee recommending the building of the proposed bridge over Hargus creek at the north end of Scioto street on city property, which would necessitate the removal of a residence now on the property; heard finance committee, mayor's and hospital reports; learned that September 7 had been set as the date for a hearing by the public utilities commission on the request to evaluate the water plant; were informed notice had been served on the water company of the start of condemnation proceedings.

FRED GEARHART WINS ADDITION TO WAR MEDAL

Three oak leaf clusters have been added to the Distinguished Flying Cross of Lieutenant Fred Z. Gearhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gearhart, of near Yellowbud, according to a recent letter from him to his parents. He has had long service with the China-Burma-India unit as a pilot flying supplies and men over the "hump" to China.

In addition to the Flying Cross, he wears the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters, the presidential citation unit service ribbon and the good conduct ribbon.

He has been overseas since January, 1943, and was eligible for a furlough home last May. At the request of his superiors, Lieut. Gearhart stayed on, and is now acting as a flight group engineering officer. He has a brother, Myron, pharmacist mate, first class, in the U. S. Navy, now stationed on a PC boat in the Mediterranean area, taking the place of a doctor on the ship.

DESPITE THE NAMES

CARROLLTON, Ky.—Needless to say, their names portended that Lake Coffin and George Graves should get together as undertakers. But certainly not of a share-the-ride group, as they did two years ago to facilitate transportation to the Blue Ribbon Distilleries Company here from their homes in nearby Milton. Especially in view of the fact that it was Coffin's daily chore at the plant to preside over the "bier" to insure a proper mixture for distillation into high proof war alcohol. Today the dauntless pair have over 19,000 miles of joint wartime travel without a mishap to their credit.

The state of Michigan became a territory in 1805, and a state in 1835.

Blood May Save Jackie's Life

WHETHER Jackie Krumholtz of Springfield, O., lives or dies may depend on a special shipment of blood plasma made from blood donated by Mrs. William McMullin of Philadelphia, who has recovered from the same "incurable" blood disease, acute lymphatic leukemia, that now threatens Jackie. In the picture above, the child's father, Arthur Krumholtz, visits his son at the City hospital in Springfield, where the transfusions are being given.

Nazi Fighter--76

SHOWING the disillusionment of defeat in his expression, this 76-year-old Nazi fighter stands out in grim contrast to thousands of hard-hitting youthful and fanatical German boys taken prisoner since the Allied invasion on the Normandy coast. He will be transferred for internment to the United States. U. S. Coast guard photograph. (International)

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS ON CITY FUNDS

Report of the finance committee given at the Tuesday night council meeting revealed the following balances in city funds August 15:

General fund, $11,204.14; library fund, $3,875.88; sewage disposal fund, $13,841.48; auto street repair fund, $6,965.31; gasoline tax fund, $2,115.60; Berger hospital, $1,827.24.

Parking meter collections for the month of July totaled $928.94.

tation. Regarding the latter, the Air Transport Command continues to perform miracles in carrying every drop of gasoline, all airplane parts, personnel, food, and every conceivable type of equipment to U. S. air bases in China. As the enemy now full well knows—though the U. S. public many not—these transport planes now fly during the monsoon season, which the British previously said was impossible. Forthright Congressman Usher Burdick of North Dakota intends to pay tribute shortly to the great job done by the Chinese and by the Air Transport Command in this war theatre.

HOOVER'S CHILDREN

Bachelor J. Edgar Hoover, who has jailed more desperate criminals than any man in history, has a secret weakness which not many people know about. He likes children. On many an afternoon you will find a group of boys going through FBI headquarters, getting points on crime detection. If he is not too busy, Hoover himself will take time to say hello.

Hoover has spent much time studying children, feels that a healthy younger generation is the best insurance against crime, once even wrote a magazine article, "If I had a Son."

Here is some of the advice he gave: "If I had a son, I'd probably be frightened. I've never feared criminals, but if I were a husband and father I might be afraid. So much would depend on me."

"If I had a son, I'd do one thing. I'd tell him the truth. I'd never let him catch me in a lie. And in return I'd insist that he tell the truth. . . . When children go astray it isn't the fault of the children but of their parents. . . . A spoiled boy grows into a spoiled man. . . . I'd try to be a pal to my boy. . . . I'd encourage him to join the Boy Scouts and boys' clubs, but before he joined I'd make a point of getting acquainted with the leader of the troop. . . . I'd have my son go to church. What's more, I'd go with him. . . . But above everything else, I'd try to understand my son. For if I didn't I'd be a failure as a dad."

STALIN-CHURCHILL CORDIALITY

Those who have watched the diplomatic wheels go round from the close-up inside, report that Stalin and Churchill are now getting along famously.

This is important because it was not the case at Teheran, where Roosevelt and Stalin did the getting along and Churchill didn't. That was when the present Second Front in France was the topic of considerable argument and when Churchill, bidding farewell to Stalin, said:

"Well, good-bye, Marshall. I'll see you in Berlin."

"Yes," replied Stalin; "I in a tank and you in a Pullman car." Churchill's friends point out that Teheran he was in the early stages of a very severe illness and definitely not himself.

Since then, Churchill seems to have got over any complexes regarding Stalin, and Stalin takes a like position toward Churchill. There has been complete teamwork between the two for some time.

Both British and American diplomats also pay tribute to the co-operation of the Russians in recent months on most subjects, even including Poland. The general view in diplomatic circles is that Stalin has been reasonable regarding Poland, and that Polish problems will work out satisfactorily in the end, despite occasional fireworks from the exiled Polish press.

ROWBOAT 'LAUNCHED'

PORTLAND, Ore.—Commercial Iron Works in Portland recently launched the Margaret, a row-boat, at an auspicious ceremony. Before the "vessel" went down the ways, a red, blue and white christening bottle filled with vinegar was broken over her prow. Corsages of the launching party were made of carrots and radishes.

Don't Waste Electricity. There is Plenty to Use — But None to Waste.

Don't Do That!

ELECTRIC cords are the vital lifelines for your electrical appliances. Constructed of rubber, copper and other critical materials, cords are difficult to replace these days. Unless treated carefully, they may become frayed or broken — causing trouble in the form of short circuits and blown fuses. So treat them with the best possible care. Application of the following suggestions will help keep your cords on the job for the duration.

For Longer Cord Life:

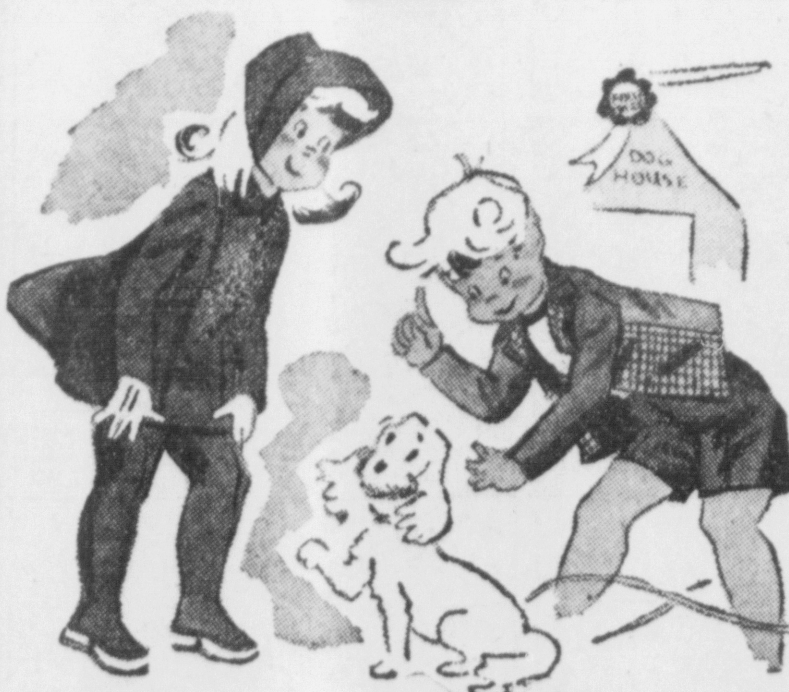

- ★ Never jerk or yank a cord from an outlet. Always grasp the plug firmly when plugging in or disconnecting.
- ★ In using or storing cords, do not kink or bend them sharply. This may cause the fine wires to break inside the cord.
- ★ When storing a cord, loop it loosely over two round supports placed a few inches apart.
- ★ Be sure to wipe oil or grease from cord—particularly if it has rubber insulation. Grease has a harmful effect on rubber.
